 5 – 9 October 2026

The University of Prishtina is pleased to invite academic and administrative staff from partner higher education institutions to participate in the first edition of the UP International Teaching & Training Staff Week 2026.

This international week is designed as a dynamic platform for collaboration, professional exchange, and international networking, bringing together colleagues from across Europe and beyond.

Through interactive sessions, workshops, discussions, and networking activities, participants will explore contemporary challenges and opportunities in higher education, including internationalization, innovation in teaching and learning, student engagement, digital transformation, and institutional development.

What will participants gain? Participants will have the opportunity to:

- Exchange experiences and good practices with colleagues from different countries and institutions
- Explore innovative approaches in teaching, training, and university administration
- Strengthen international cooperation and build new academic partnerships
- Develop new ideas for collaboration, mobility, and project initiatives
- Experience the academic and cultural environment of Kosovo and the University of Prishtina

Who can participate? The programme welcomes:

- Academic staff

- Administrative staff
- International Relations Officers
- Researchers and project staff
- Professionals involved in higher education development and internationalization

The programme combines:

- Expert presentations
- Interactive workshops
- Networking and peer-learning activities
- Institutional exchange sessions
- Cultural and social activities
