

Greetings to everyone from the International Relations Office at the Universidade da Coruña, Spain!

We are pleased to announce that the Call for Course Proposals for the International Summer School 2025 is officially open today.

In the previous edition, which took place in July 2024, we welcomed 112 students and 20 lecturers from universities across fifty countries. A total of 16 courses were offered on a variety of topics, including 3D scanning, international climate law, business psychology, and leadership communication, while participants also had the chance to explore our region through an engaging social activities program.

If you are interested in taking part in the upcoming edition starting July 14, please find information on the requirements, accommodation, meals and so on clicking here, and submit your course proposal(s) by December 20 filling this FORM and uploading through it the attached file in pdf format conveniently fulfilled.

We also encourage you to share this opportunity with the faculty members of your institution and beyond.

Please do not hesitate to reach out to us if you require any additional information.

Best regards,

The UDC International Summer School Team

Course Overview

(Enter the course description)

Learning Outcomes

(Learning outcomes are clear statements of the knowledge, competencies or skills you expect students to have acquired by the end of the course (e.g., "By the end of this course students should be able to synthesize information from..." or "make predictions" or "solve problems").)

Course Content

(A description of the topics to be addressed in the course. If appropriate, explain what the course is not about or what topics will not be covered.)

Instructional Method

(Provide a brief description of instructional approaches that will be used during the course (e.g., lectures, seminars, group projects).)

Required Course Materials

(Provide specific information about required readings, software...)

Assessment

(A description of the means of evaluation to be used in the course: The purpose of evaluation is to provide feedback to students on their learning, as well as to permit the instructor to assign a fair grade at the end of the course. Providing explicit information about assignments and grading procedures will clarify expectations and allay student anxiety, while supporting students in pacing their studies, gauging their progress, and achieving learning outcomes. )
